Dear Friends of CMH:

Did you know that the game Monopoly was created over a century ago to teach young people lessons about money, property, and economics? It did so in a way that stepped back from a rough and tumble world and, hopefully, made learning some of life's lessons simpler and even enjoyable.

Crusaderopoly: An Evening on the Boardwalk – maybe it gives us some of the lessons about value, investment, and success; certainly it provides the opportunity for fun, enjoyment, and even some friendly competitions. All of this in balance is a nice reflection of Catholic Memorial High School – our families, our teaching, our experiences, and our joy.

While our mission is no game, CMH is a safe environment where, in the light of faith, young people learn life's lessons surrounded by great encouragement and tremendous joy. But, unlike a game where only one player wins, tonight we celebrate all of us winning. A better school, a supportive community of parents, alumni and alumni parents sharing a celebration, a successful effort to close the annual gap between tuition and the real cost of education. In these, we are all winners!

Celebrate and share our success tonight. Pass "Go" as often as you like. And please let enthusiasm drive your generosity.

Thank you to the CMH Auction Committee and its many volunteers, led by current parent Monica Jennaro. Their hours of work and devotion itself represents all that is good at CMH. Thank you to the Office of Development staff for their work on this, and so many other projects which support our mission.

Thank you to the individuals, groups, and companies who made donations in support of this auction and of CMH.

Most importantly, THANK YOU! Your generosity allows this Evening on the Boardwalk to be a winning moment for CMH.

Our Lady of Memorial, pray for us!

Very Reverend Paul B. R. Hartmann, '84
President

Welcome to the 2015 Auction! I am thrilled to share this celebration with you!

This past year has been filled with a transformative energy that continues to enhance the ways we fulfill our mission to educate, guide and prepare our students to serve the Church and the world. Your charitable spirit and dedication to CMH truly impacts our ability to achieve the goals outlined in Vision 2020 for 21st century education excellence! 2015 is going to be a year that allows CMH to take a chance and build community in new and innovative ways!

In my six years as principal, your support and belief in CMH has enabled the faculty and me to expand our academic support services, add courses to the International Baccalaureate Program and Project Lead the Way, make physical enhancements to the Learning Commons, and implement the Student Growth Plan. Most recently, we have also been able to launch Memorial Propel, an innovation process designed to energize student thinking and teach creativity, collaboration, communication, and critical thinking. In partnership with local Catholic universities and industry partners, we have been able to bring additional faith formation and educational strategies to our faculty to help them have the best tools and skills to bring to our students.

You are our partners in helping CMH students reach increasingly high standards of success. CMH has accomplished the highest ACT average in school history, we are at a record high for IB diploma candidates, and more students continue to commit to service projects inside and outside of CMH. Your active participation in tonight's events move Vision 2020 forward by providing a portion of the funds needed to raise standards in all academic programs, increase faculty development with college and business partnerships and bring innovation and career planning to our students that will define CMH as the premier choice for all families who value the gift of Catholic Education and innovative learning.

Many thanks to our sponsors, donors, volunteers, and those in attendance tonight. I offer special thanks to our Auction Chair, Monica Jennaro, and the entire Auction committee, especially Susan Christian, Lynn North, Vickie Morrison, Kathleen McKnight, Michelle Holt, and Jodi Jacobson for their enthusiasm and energy in creating an unforgettable evening.

Enjoy your evening! Take a chance! And I hope you go home a winner!

Welcome to CRUSADEROPLY!

Thank you for attending the 34th Annual Crusader Auction benefiting Catholic Memorial High School. The past 6 months have been a true Labor of Love as I have gotten to know so many of you! We come together tonight to raise funds and paddles to support the goals of Catholic Memorial. In addition, we support our staff as they encourage and mentor our children to become Leaders that will serve their church and world. The key to our success rests in people like you, who embody the spirit of greatness by saying "Yes I can!"

It has been amazing to see our motto, Caritas in Omnibus, come to life! Take a look around and marvel at the tremendous generosity, dedication, and endless hours that have gone into transforming our school into what you see tonight! From the creative decorations, invitations, programs, to the signage displayed throughout the room and beyond, our talented volunteers have not missed a thing. We are truly appreciative of EVERY parent, student, staff, donor, and sponsor who has come together to make this evening a reality! We have discovered hidden talents and treasures in our CMH Community and cannot begin to show our gratitude!

So...Do Not Pass Go, instead Go Directly to the Silent Auction tables and start bidding! We aren't playing with Monopoly Money tonight; we are investing real money into our children's future! So let's take a stroll down the Boardwalk, Roll the Dice, and have some fun!

With Gratitude,

Monica Jennaro '83
